Spring is in the air, and as the weather begins to change so too will menus and the assortment of produce at local markets. This week we're highlighting a selection of refreshing whites and zesty rosés to complement the season's bounty. The wines here come from across California, and are available for $25 or less.

Leading the pack is a lively and distinctive Albariño from Cambiata. This white grape is hugely popular in Spain and Portugal, and it's been slowly gaining ground in California. Cambiata owner and winemaker Eric Laumann grows Albariño and other offbeat varietals, such as Tannat, in Monterey County's cool, coastal climate. For a richer style, reach for one of the white Rhône varieties, such as Truchard's juicy and spicy Roussanne or a Grenache Blanc from Denner winemaker Anthony Younts' personal label, Kinero.

This is also the time of year when producers start releasing their rosés in anticipation of warmer weather. J Vineyards, Pisoni and Calera make an appearance here with Pinot Noir–based rosés from the 2013 vintage. Red Rhône grapes are popular choices for making rosé too, as with Benziger's well-priced version made from Syrah.
